DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 8 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. There is no PVC in claim 1. Furthermore, PVC is an abbreviation. It means Pigment/Volume/Concentration. There can be no abbreviations in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.
3. Claim 8 recites the limitation "wherein the polymer is PVC" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b or e) as being anticipated by Mardis et al. 4,391,637, Suss et al. 4,558,075, Liu 6,084,008 or Fukui et al. 5,091,462.
6. Mardis et al. disclose PVC plastisol ABS and smectite clay in column 24, lines 22-68 and column 25, lines 1-12. Calcium carbonate (chalk) and talc can be found in column 25, lines 35-46. See also column 26, lines 50-58 and claims 11-13. Suss et al. teach binder and organoclay in claim 1, urethane and epoxy resins from column 3, line 45, to column 5, line 42 calcium carbonate in column 7, line 12. Liu recites a fire retardant coating in claim 1, limestone and calcium carbonate in claim 4, phenol-formaldehyde resin and resorcinol-formaldehyde resin in claim 7, aluminum trihydrate and magnesium hydroxide in claim 11 and organoclay in claim 14. Fukui et al. display polypropylene and polyamide modified with clay in claim 1, intercalating the clay with polyamide from column 4, line 34, to column 5, line 23 and inorganic fillers, among them hydroxides of aluminum and magnesium, in the paragraph overlapping columns 6 and 7. A cable or wire coating is the intended use and as such it has no patentable significance. Applicants' claims are not novel.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mardis et al. 4,391,637, Suss et al. 4,558,075, Liu 6,084,008 or Fukui et al. 5,091,462.

10. All references have been described already. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art; at the time the invention was made to select applicants' ingredients from a list of equivalents.

Conclusion

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
